A WEEKLY PATRIOTIC PRAYER BULLETIN
MERGING PRAYER AND PATRIOTISM

Dear Watchman,

This is a difficult prayer bulletin to write. The confusion in the body of Christ concerning the wicked in authority is overwhelming. Last week, I wrote about wolves in sheep's clothing. I also confirmed Obama's attacks on our energy resources and food supplies. I have so much information on these subjects I could write a 50 page Faye's Facts. But, since our focus is on prayer, I try and keep it to the point at hand. I've never had to lean on God as much as I have the past few years. You may be the same way. My friend, we must know how to fight and win spiritual battles.

We read in the Scriptures that God required the altars of Baal to be destroyed before He built His altars among the people. The same thing needs to happen in our land. We are purposed to tear Satan's kingdom down and rebuke the idolaters. The army of the Lord is marching in America! You are in that army. Don't forget who our Command-in-Chief is! Don't doubt His power and might. He said He will fight our battles and crush His enemies.

Let us lay another cornerstone in the foundation of prayer and keep our hearts filled with truth in the power of the Holy Spirit. We must study how the enemy operates. Jesus said we are to be gentle as doves, but wise as serpents. We must be stronger in the spirit than demonic forces. We must stand in the gap in intercessory prayer and march forward not looking back.

A few months ago, I gave our team leaders a History Channel documentary on Hitler and his occult connections. It showed evidence that Hitler was demon possessed and an agent of Satan. Hitler went through rituals that opened the door to Satan and obviously his soul belonged to the devil. As I watched the documentary the parallels to Barack Obama were clear. Many others who watched it saw the same things I did.

Then last week, I read an article that caught my attention that confirmed this. I take serious my God-given calling as a prayer leader and no one in our prayer network is walking in confusion. I do not have to walk on egg shells hoping not to offend anyone in our network. We are all of sound mind praying in one accord. Thank the Lord! Ezekiel 22:30; And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none. Isaiah 56:16; He saw that there was no one, he was appalled that there was no one to intervene; so his own arm worked salvation for him, his own righteousness sustained him. Jeremiah 5:1; Go up and down the streets of Jerusalem, look around and consider, search through her squares. If you can find but one person who deals honestly and seeks the truth, I will forgive this city. Jeremiah 8:6; I have listened attentively, but they do not say what is right. No one repents of his wickedness, saying, 'What have I done?' Each pursues his own course like a horse charging into battle. (This is like many Americans.)

"Stand" is an important word and we need this word to penetrate our spirit and mind. It means "here to interpose between a sinful people, and their offended God, and entreat for mercy."

But all were corrupt! All orders and decrees of men had helped to fill the measure of the nation's guilt. The people that had any power abused it, and even the buyers and sellers find some way to oppress one another. It does not bode well when judgments are breaking in upon them, and the spirit of prayer is restrained. Let all who fear God unite to promote His truth and righteousness; as wicked men of every rank plot together to run them down.

Jeremiah 5:1 says “I found none.” This did not mean there was not one righteous person in the city because Jeremiah and Baruch were still there, but Jeremiah had been forbidden to pray for the people being doomed by wrath. Read Jeremiah 11:9-14.

Obama is a Blasphemer!

GOP Congressman Walked out on Obama’s Disgusting Campaign Speech at Prayer Breakfast

Posted by Jim Hoft on Friday, February 3, 2012

Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-Georgia) walked out on Obama’s outrageous campaign speech yesterday at the National Prayer Breakfast. Obama decided to give a stump speech on socialism for the attendees at the breakfast. Rome News reported:

Republican Rep. Phil Gingrey (Ga.) walked out of President Obama’s speech at the National Prayer Breakfast on Thursday, his spokeswoman confirmed to The Hill.

Jen Talaber said the five-term lawmaker “left quietly” in the middle of the president’s remarks.

“He was disturbed and offended by the president’s use of prayer and reflection time for partisan politics and class warfare,” Talaber said. “Rep. Gingrey enjoyed listening to the keynote speaker and found the breakfast to be inspiring until President Obama began politicking.” At the breakfast, Obama tried to tie some of the proposals from his State of the Union address, such as everyone paying their fair share in taxes, to Biblical teachings.

Obama quoted the Scripture “To whom much is given, much is required” to validate his Communist policies and taxation. Attendees applauded. Why did only one walk out?

Obama Speech at National Prayer Breakfast: Insincere Theological Farce

Rev. Michael Bresciani, February 3, 2012, www.canadianfreepress.com

Glancing down at his notes every few seconds, Mr. Obama managed to get through what looked like the worst drudgery of his day at the National Prayer Breakfast.

Since 1953, the annual ‘National Prayer Breakfast’ has been held at the Hilton International Ballroom in Washington DC. It was begun by Christian conservatives but today is attended by over 3,000 people, all who are not conservative. The President is usually the main speaker followed by another prominent figure who is not announced until the day of the event.

There was a good helping of name dropping in which Obama said various ministers dropped by or phoned him at the White House. He specifically named Joel Hunter and T. D. Jakes. A fully emotionally embellished account of his visit with the Reverend Billy Graham was also added to the obviously perfunctory address. The subtle infusion of Obama’s politics and policy filled the air, and the speech, which the president could hardly disguise, was an attenuation of his usual political rhetoric.

It will be seen by conservative Christianity, that the names and associations he is so willing to use are generally thought of as those who are apostate, liberal and willing to abandon the clear mandates of the Bible for some social contrivance of the hour. This does not make anything the president said any more believable but rather casts doubt on his associations, much like the doubt already in circulation about his over twenty-year relationship with controversial Pastor/Reverend Jeremiah Wright.

Jakes, who once called for Franklin Graham’s apology to Obama for doubting his faith in Christ, said Graham was nuanced by politics. Quoted in Chron.com, May 18, 2011 Jakes said, “I wish he had the diplomacy of his father, who brought the gospel to people without being nuanced by politics because when you do those things you offend people that you are actually called to save and to serve.”

In fact, when Franklin Graham was publicly questioned about Obama’s faith he made no political allusions whatsoever. Rather like anyone disciplined in the scriptures he quoted Christ who said “Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them.” (Mt. 7: 20) The humblest student of the bible will have no trouble telling you that promoting the gay agenda and support for the abortion of the unborn is not, nor can ever be considered a fruit of the Christian faith.

It stretches credulity to its limits when Jakes visits to the White House and conversations with Obama are dismissed and not taken as proof that Jakes is being biased with Obama’s policies and politics. It’s the pot calling the kettle black in all of its wondrously clichéd wisdom.

Jakes promotes the ‘Word of Faith’ prosperity gospel, that to millions of born-again believers is a perversion of the gospel and heretical at best. He is seen as part of the heresy explosion that accompanies the great falling away (apostasy) of the church at large.

This article will not put a judgment on T. D. Jakes, but rather will resort to the teaching of the Apostle Paul, who said, “Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts...” (1Cor 4: 5) But as far as name dropping goes Obama might have been better off to leave some of the names off his list.

Joel Hunter gave up his registration as a Republican in 2010 in favor of going it alone. Changing party affiliation is no crime in this nation but what follows is a stand, or more succinctly, the lack of one, against abortion. Hunter is a supporter of Obamacare.

In the scripture, no political party is recognized, but the plight of the weak, children and the oppressed is foremost. The choice of names and the use of particular passages served only to contradict the president.

They are illumined in the poorest light by the scriptures and the knowledge that to date Americans have disposed of an entire generation of little human beings (54,000,000) in this scourge we call abortion.

In the fourth chapter of John's gospel Jesus said "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." (Jn 4: 24) According to the official transcript broken down into paragraphs by the Washington Post on February 2, 2012, Mr. Obama virtually started his entire address with a bold-faced lie, in the presence of those who supposedly believe in the aforementioned verse.

He said "This is especially important right now, when we're facing some big challenges as a nation. Our economy is making progress as we recover from the worst crisis in three generations..."

Actually this is the worst economic crisis in only three years, and every bit of debt has been incurred by the Obama Administration. No other President in U.S. history has ever come close to the Obama record for adding debt to the nation. Few economists alive today would concur with the president that we are in recovery.

Here, it is not hope that we are dealing with, but the audacity of delusion.

In what might be construed as a disclaimer, Mr. Obama could not be more precise as when he said "Our goal should not be to declare our policies as biblical. It is God who is infallible, not us. Michelle reminds me of this often."

There has been little to nothing of Obama's policy that could even remotely be declared as biblical. When he did use a quote from Proverbs it served to bring into question, yet, once again the lost lives of fifty-four million unborn children whose silent voices were not, nor ever will be heard.

He said "To answer the responsibility we're given in Proverbs to speak up for those who cannot speak for themselves..." Nothing said by Mr. Obama after that, could possibly mitigate the obvious hypocrisy in his words.

In a final blast of incongruity that neither stout heart nor tempered steel could have endured without cracking; he mentioned a passage from the book of Romans which he did not actually quote, after saying "What do you pray for when it comes to the man who has prayed for so many? But like that verse in Romans, the Holy Spirit interceded when I didn't know quite what to say."

It makes no difference exactly what verse he quoted, because only a few years ago he was noted for saying that the bible passage that declares that homosexual practices are an abomination to God and a crime against nature are from an obscure book of the bible, thus it did not need to be taken seriously. That book is Romans.

I could be accused of over scrutinizing the president's remarks, but since he chose to scrutinize the inspired word of the Living God and decide which words can be taken seriously and which can be disregarded, then I am on pretty safe ground. After all, Barack Obama is only a president, or in his own words, heard by thousands in his speech at the Prayer Breakfast, "It is God who is infallible, not us."

Mr. Obama's complete un-believability is of his own making, and his own words are the immutable proof of the same.

Has Obama Blasphemed the Holy Spirit?

What is the Blasphemy of the Holy Spirit?

www.christianity.stackexchange.com

To understand blasphemy against the Spirit, one first needs to understand what blasphemy is. One author defines it thusly:

Blasphemy is directly opposed to the second commandment. It consists in uttering against God - inwardly or outwardly - words of hatred, reproach, or defiance; in speaking ill of God; in failing in respect toward him in one's speech; in misusing God's name. St. James condemns those "who blaspheme that honorable name [of Jesus] by which you are called." The prohibition of blasphemy extends to language against Christ's Church, the saints, and sacred things. It is also blasphemous to make use of God's name to cover up criminal practices, to reduce peoples to servitude, to torture persons or put them to death. The misuse of God's name to commit a crime can provoke others to repudiate religion.

Basically, it's going against God's will and treating Him with anything less than the respect and love He deserves.

The Holy Spirit, being one part of the Holy Trinity, is what confers the gift of grace upon people. So, to blaspheme against the Spirit is to willfully reject God's grace and forgiveness. Or, as the Scripture puts it:

"Therefore I tell you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, but the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven." There are no limits to the mercy of God, but anyone who deliberately refuses to accept his mercy by repenting, rejects the forgiveness of his sins and the salvation offered by the Holy Spirit. Such hardness of heart can lead to final impenitence and eternal loss.

The analogy I've heard is that it's to know God exists and know His power, but to believe you can do better. If you're familiar with the story of the fall of Lucifer/Satan, it's essentially his actions in a nutshell: he knew God exists and he knew God's divine grace, yet he openly rejected it.

And that's why it's so unforgivable: God can't forgive you or save you if you reject His ability to do so.

Matthew 12:30-37(NIV):

30 "Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters. 31 And so I tell you, every kind of sin and slander can be forgiven, but blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven. 32 Anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but anyone who speaks against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven, either in this age or in the age to come. 33 "Make a tree good and its fruit will be good, or make a tree bad and its fruit will be bad, for a tree is recognized by its fruit. 34 You brood of vipers, how can you who are evil say anything good? For the mouth speaks what the heart is full of. 35 A good man brings good things out of the good stored up in him, and an evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in him. 36 But I tell you that everyone will have to give account on the Day of Judgment for every empty word they have spoken. 37 For by your words you will be acquitted, and by your words you will be condemned."

So if we look at the context of this, we can clearly see what provoked Jesus to say this. It was when the Pharisees were calling the work of the Spirit the work of Beelzebub. When Jesus performed the miracle, they denied it as being from God. Jesus explained that 1. It was really stupid to say that the devil would cure somebody since he's the one that cursed them. And, 2. The Holy Spirit is the one who was giving Him the power to drive out the demons, and calling the work of the Holy Spirit evil, is the worst thing you could ever do and you will be held accountable for it. He was making it clear that they had crossed the line from just discrediting Him (they thought he was only a man, so it was nothing for them to speak against Him), to blaspheming the Spirit of God. So in context, we see that blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is when the Holy Spirit is doing something miraculous and you turn around and say that it is of the devil.

This is what we are up against. As you read this, ask yourself is Barack Obama demon possessed? Is he a blasphemer? The Scriptures tell us to have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them.

Laura Ingram put it this way: I warned you that the destructive legislation in President Obama's socialist health-care reform bill would be evident once the Department of Health and Human Services started enforcing the new regulations. The new laws forbid all employers--including Catholic hospitals and schools--from denying insurance benefits for contraception, abortion-inducing drugs, and sterilization. Religious institutions have now been put on notice they are to comply with the new law beginning in 2013 or be in violation of federal law. Spearheading this effort to force employers to violate their religious doctrine and freedom of religion, HHS Secretary Kathleen Sebelius gives avowed Communist Van Jones a run for his money in the "most-radical-present-or-former-Obama-Administration official" contest. The White House thinks it can minimize any political fallout among US Catholics--after all, a solid majority use contraception and voted for him in 2008. Big mistake, for even cafeteria-Catholics are made uncomfortable by a President who seems to side with the group building a mosque near Ground Zero, but tramples upon the religious liberty of their church. When groups as un-conservative as USA Today and the gang on Morning Joe are speaking out against this brazen HHS move, you know it's only a matter of time before we read about an Obama about-face on the issue (or so we hope).
